Chips

A One-Act Play
Entitled
It Isn't The Heat—
It's The Humidity.

Dramatis Personae: Calvin Coolidge, Honorary President of the American Red Cross; Winston Spencer Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer; Joe College Olson, President of the Senior Class; the entire Theta Delta Chi fraternity; Charles A. Lindbergh, a Colonel in the Missouri National Guard; the Fifteenth Earl of Frothingham; and the Ghost of General Stonewall Jackson.

ACT I

DEAN DOYLE: Do you happen to know how it was that George Washington University was given a million dollars, Mr. Bones?

GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN: No, suh, no suh, ah doan know.

DEAN DOYLE: Well, you see it was this way. . . (Immense clatter without.) . . . Cloyd Marvin asked me, he says to me. . . Habla Vd. Espanol, Hombre? . . . and he says, Henry, what does this University need? And I says to Marvin, what this University needs is a million dollars. And that's how he gets the idea.

(Cheers, huzzahs, and peachy.)
HERB ANGEL: In harmony with my name, I am about to suggest an angelic idea.

SENATOR COUZENS: Spout, son, spout.

HERB: It ain't the heat, it's the humidity.

SENATOR COUZENS: Have, you seen Sharps and Frats—you know, Jerry Sickler's and Janet Sheppard's show?

HERB: You know quite well, Jimmy, it ain't the heat, it's the humidity.

SENATOR COUZENS: And how? (The cast all having passed out, the CURTAIN rings down.)

Possibilities among those who have been accused of writing Chips: Rowland Lyon, Joe Davis Walstrom, Rowland Lyon, Sherman Elbridge Johnson, Rowland Lyon, Elbert Lowell Huber, Rowland Lyon, Herbert E. Angel, Rowland Lyon, Cloyd Heck Marvin, Rowland Lyon, John Dean Milligan, Rowland Lyon, Robert Whitney Bolwell, Rowland Lyon, Walter Mark Slavik, Rowland Lyon, all the Sigma Alpha Epsilon business managers, Rowland Lyon, Betty Wittbank, Rowland Lyon, And also Rowland Lyon.

Incidentally, Rowland Lyon does NOT write Chips. He wishes he did. Oh, what he could do if he did! All his girl friends could be glorified (see Chi Omega—no Phi Phi accepted).

Mr. R. Campbell Starr hereby regrets not being included in the above list. He is purposely left out, since, being Chairman of the Board, he is, like Caesar's wife, beyond reproach.

And all who run may read.

Our dear old friend, Henry L. Mencken, who keeps his house open to pseudo-intellectuals in Hollins Street, Baltimore, has delivered himself of various ideas in re the modern college student. Says H. L.: "Too many young Americans are now going to college and. . . their presence is greatly impeding the work of the colleges. Certainly it should be possible to devise some scheme to weed out the unfit."

Good old Mencken. He's probably right in this, BY ACCIDENT. Our Bible being, for the time, that tome The Sun Also Rises, we will quote roughly, "Mencken has already written about all the things he knows about, and now he is writing about all the things he doesn't know anything about."

The special investigator for The Ghost, Mr. Rodney Tattersall, will promulgate his impressions on the Troubadour musical comedy, Sharps and Frats. In this he has been ably assisted by the drawings of our Francis Tompkins, the jolly old orchestra leader, in other words, Roger Wolfe Kahn II. Oh, how pungent these lads are in their criticisms! Tommy Tompkins, you know, is the devil who drives the new Buick.

Have you ever been infatuated? Your good old confrere, Dick Rollo, was taken unexpectedly amorous and has been since Christmas making a fool of himself over a young lady who resembles Greta Garbo. Katherine Cornell, and two or three Cleopatras, believe it or not. There is only one cure for infatuation, and that is Coco Cola, see Quigley's, Nunnally's, the Co-Op, the Country Store on Connecticut Avenue, Ridgeways, etc. (no advt.) If this doesn't work, go to Virginia or Washington and Lee, and you will very soon forget all about everything.

Oh, dear old chaps, how the warm weather persists. We saw Sturgis Bates in his Marmon, and Sherman Johnson, with him, and innumerable young ladies, trooping all over Connecticut Avenue. And Frank Kreglow the other day in same Marmon. It ain't right.

These apples oughta loan it to us.
DICK ROLLO.

PROF. ARNOLD IS CHOSEN OFFICER OF LEGAL FRAT

Elected Justice of Supreme Court of Delta Theta Phi At Annual Convention

HAS BEEN MEMBER OF G. W. FACULTY SINCE '23

Is a Member of Bars of Idaho, Ohio, D. C., and the U. S. Supreme Court

At the annual convention of the Delta Theta Phi Law Fraternity held in St. Louis, Missouri, December 28, 29 and 30, 1927, Professor Earl C. Arnold of George Washington University Law School, was elected to the office of Justice of the Supreme Court of the fraternity by unanimous vote. Hugh Wilkins Colton represented Woodrow Wilson Senate of George Washington at the convention.

Professor Arnold is a graduate of Baker College, Kansas City, and also of the Northwestern University Law School. In his senior year he was president of Wigmore Senate of Delta Theta Phi at Northwestern in 1908. Mr. Arnold was admitted to the bar of Illinois upon examination in 1909 and subsequently to the bars of Idaho, Ohio, the District of Columbia, and the Supreme Court of the United States.

Is Author of Surety Text

He is the author of a recent and most valuable work on Suretyship and Guaranty and a contributor of many articles to the Law Reviews of Columbia University, Cornell University, University of Pennsylvania and the University of Illinois. For the two-year period 1913-1914, Mr. Arnold was Assistant Solicitor of the United States Department of Agriculture under Secretary James Wilson. In 1921 and 1925, Professor Arnold taught at the summer sessions of the Law School of Northwestern University.

Professor Arnold first came to George Washington in the summer session of 1923, and he became a member of the faculty in that year. He has been very active in University circles and is a member of the President's Council. At present he is Chairman of the Faculty Committee on Student Relations and has assisted on the committee in charge of the Law School banquets for several years past.

Mr. Arnold has shown much interest in debating activities and is a member of the Debating Council of the University and of Delta Sigma Rho, honorary debating fraternity. He is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon, fraternities, Kansas Alpha Chapter, and of the Order of the Coif, honorary legal fraternity. He is also a member of the Cosmos Club, Washington, D. C., and a Knight Templar in the Masonic fraternity.

CHERRY TREE BOARD SETS FINAL DEADLINE

Allen Neil is New Business Manager; "Snapshot Week" Will Be Continued Over Week

The first regular meeting of the Cherry Tree Staff was held in the Cherry Tree Room, Friday evening, January 13. Plans were discussed for the 1928 book and the deadline for copy was set for the second week in February.

Allen Neil has been appointed as Acting Business Manager of the Cherry Tree, subject to approval by the Faculty Committee on Student Activities and will be in charge of advertisements and distribution.

The final date for having photographs taken has been extended to Friday, January 20; and a new schedule of hours has been made. Pictures may be taken from nine until eleven, and twelve to five every day, and from seven to nine every night with the exception of Wednesday night, which has been reserved for group pictures which will be taken in the Gymnasium.

Due to the rainy weather during the past few days, "snap-shot" week will be continued for another week and a prize of a free Cherry Tree is still open to the student who hands in the best group of six snaps.

The next staff meeting will be held in the Cherry Tree Room, January 20, at 7.30 p. m.

The first regular meeting of Cherry Tree Staff was held in the Cherry Tree Room, Friday evening, January 13, where plans were discussed for the 1928 book and reports on the work already finished were given.

CHERRY TREE PHOTOS

All pictures for the Cherry Tree must be taken by Friday, January 20, according to a statement just made by the Photography Editor of the yearbook.

"Sharps And Frats" May Go On Road For Series of One-Night Stands In February

Sharps and Frats may go on the road after examinations for a series of one-night stands in Baltimore, Annapolis, and other near-by towns if present plans materialize according to Elmer Brown, managing director. The suggestion, which is said to be approved by Dean Rose and Professor Bolwell, is to be discussed and definitely decided upon by the Board of Directors of the Dramatic Association, and the Executive Committee and cast of Sharps and Frats on Sunday, January 29, at a tea at the home of Professor Bolwell.

The entire cast would go on tour for about a week, if the present plan is approved and followed, under arrangements similar to those followed by the Princeton Triangle Club and other well known dramatic associations. The custom of sending out successful productions is followed by most leading colleges, but is an innovation for George Washington.

LAW STUDENTS ELECT OFFICERS

Day Students Dissatisfied With Constitution Drawn Up By Evening Body

NEW ONE IS DRAFTED

Claim That Seniors in Day School Are Not Properly Classified By Other Constitution

Following the dissatisfaction of the day student body of the George Washington University Law School with the constitution as drawn up by the evening student body, a new constitution was ratified and a general election by the day students was held in the Law School on January 9.

Under the constitution as adopted by the evening students last fall the matter of class standing for purposes of student classification was based upon the number of completed hours of work. It is claimed by the day students that seniors in the day school were not classified properly by this plan, and with a view to avoiding this difficulty, another and separate constitution was drawn up and officers elected.

Committees to Meet

This constitution also provides for the appointment of a conference committee to meet with a similar committee of the evening student body to co-operate on such functions that are of general benefit to the Law School. The results of the elections are as follows: Student Council—President, Joseph Bailey, Vice President, Theodore Shields, Executive Vice President, Paul Rutheiser.

Senior Class: President, James Kirkland, 15, Paul Dingwell, 14, Vice-president, Richard Cogswell, 23.

Secretary-Treasurer: Miss Eugenia Harold.

Junior Class: President, Frank Towles.

Secretary-Treasurer, Charles Laughlin.

Freshman Class: President, John McCoy, 31, O. Grese, 16.

Secretary-Treasurer, L. Stukes, 33, D. Eberly, 14.

One Section to Meet at Public Library Under Dr. Bowerman; Other General Lecture Course

The senior work in Library Science given during the last semester at the Library of Congress under the general supervision of Dr. Ernest Cushing Richardson, the consultant in Bibliography and Research, will be continued throughout the second semester.

There will be two sections, the first given at the Public Library of the District of Columbia, under the general supervision of Dr. George F. Bowerman, the librarian, and dealing primarily with the administration and service of public libraries, children's literature, out-of-school and adult education; while the second division will be under the general supervision of the committee in library training in the District of Columbia and conducted under the immediate direction of Miss Elizabeth Cullen, by several of the outstanding librarians in Washington, who will take up the organization, service and problems of special libraries, such as those of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Standards, Geological Survey, Surgeon-General's office and Masonic Temple.

The first section will meet Tuesday from seven to nine in the evening; and the second on Thursdays from seven to nine. Details as to places of meeting will be announced to the students registering for these courses, Tuesday, January twenty-fourth, at seven p. m., in Room 29.

G. W. TO TACKLE CARDINAL QUINT SATURDAY NIGHT

Basketball Battle Scheduled For Saturday Night At Brookland Gymnasium

C. U. RECORD IS CLEAR; COLONIALS LOSE TWO

Catholic University Took Game From American U. by Nine Points, 20 to 20

Saturday, January 21, will see all roads leading to the Catholic University Gymnasium at Brookland where the first of two events will take place which will be written as basketball history in the books of George Washington University. The above refers to the Colonial-Cardinal basketball struggle.

From observation of early season performance the game should be close, fast and furious. The Colonials have turned in four victories in six starts, losing to American University by a single point and falling before the Naval Academy after putting up a good fight.

Look Good Against Methodists

The Cardinals have yet to lose a game. In a game against American University, which will serve well our purpose for comparison, the Cards were victors by nine points—29 to 20. This, however, can not be used as an absolute criterion, for when the Cardinal and the Buff and Blue mix, the outcome is usually of an uncertain hue.

Regardless of the ultimate outcome of the engagement the student body and basketball fans of the city are assured of an exhibition of basketball which will long be remembered.

EXCHANGE NUMBER OF GHOST ON SALE SOON

Many Drawings And Jokes From Other Comics; "Sharps And Frats" To Be Featured

The Exchange Number of the Ghost is scheduled to appear on Wednesday, February 1, as announced by the Board of Editors Sunday. This number will be different from the others in that it will contain a collection of the best jokes and drawings from other college comic magazines, according to Joe Walstrom, Editor-in-Chief.

The cover for the Exchange Number was loaned by the Phoenix, comic magazine at the University of Chicago, and will be one of the most artistic covers which has been used by the Ghost so far, it is said. The other college comics which have contributed their art work to the Ghost are the Northwestern Purple Parrot, Johns Hopkins Black and Blue Jay, Amherst Lord Jeff, Yale Record, Harvard Lampoon, Iowa Frivol, M. I. T. Voo Doo, Georgia Cracker, Princeton Tiger, Brown Jug, Pitt Panther, Arizona Kitty Kat, Reserve Red Cat, and the Virginia Reel.

Another feature will be a full page of comments and criticisms on the Troubadours' musical comedy, "Sharps and Frats." These criticisms have been made by various parties not connected with the Ghost staff, but will be compiled and presented by Rodney Tattersall, feature writer of the Ghost. They are sure to cause both favorable and unfavorable reactions, especially from members of the cast.

The March issue will be the Art Number, and all students who wish to contribute drawings for this number are requested to submit them to the Ghost not later than February 10.

Law School Mixer To Be Held February 10

Mixer Substituted For Annual Spring Banquet of Law School; All Law Students Invited

Plans are going forward for the Law School mixer to be held in Corcoran Hall, February 10, under the joint direction of the Faculty Committee on Student Relations and a committee of students. The mixer will be substituted for the annual banquet of the Law School which has heretofore been held each spring.

All students and alumni of the Law School are cordially invited to attend the mixer which will partake largely of the nature of a dance. An admission charge of one dollar per couple will be asked to cover the expenses incident to the occasion. Tickets have been placed in the hands of the following persons and may be obtained on application to them or to the Secretary of the Law School: Henry T. Kilburn, Joseph Bailey, L. M. Stewart, Ruth Morehead, Willard Hansen, Ruth Tech, J. Howard Vesey, Marion Campbell, Ruth Seitzick, Fanny Neyman, and C. J. Nelson.

PYRAMID MEMBER

Dr. Frank A. Hornaday, Associate University Physician, and president of the General Alumni Association, who has just been honored by election to membership in the Pyramid Honor Society.

RAGATZ PRINTS TWO BOOKLETS

Publications Deal With Slave Trade And History of British West Indies

VALUABLE IN RESEARCH

Interest in Caribbean History Has Been Increasing Recently; Books Helpful to Students

Dr. Lowell J. Ragatz, Professor of History in the George Washington University, has just published two booklets dealing with the British West Indies, "A Check-List of House of Commons Sessional Papers Relating to the British West Indian Slave Trade and Slavery," 1763-1834, and "A Guide to the Official Correspondence of the Governors of the British West India Colonies with the Secretary of the State," 1763-1833, published in London by the Bryan Edwards Press and now procurable at Paul Pearlman's.

Within the last decade the British West India colonies have given rise to one of the most popular fields of research in colonial history. The previous long neglect in this field by historical students has been ascribed to the relatively low state of the British West Indies, which is in striking contrast to the prosperous North American colonies.

Interest Increases

It is only in recent years, since the study of imperial history as a whole has revealed them in their true perspective, that the questions pertaining to tropical colonization in the Caribbean has again become worthy of serious consideration.

"A Check-List of House of Commons Sessional Papers Relating to the British West India Slave Trade and Slavery" is one of the results of a study of West Indian economic history after the Peace of Paris, which is now nearing its completion. It is published with the hope that the clearing of a new path will be of considerable value to those entering this field. This booklet does not include the correspondence with various powers pertaining to the slave trade and slavery in general, but it does include all published papers on trade and slavery from the Peace of Paris to the Emancipation Act.

"A Guide to the Official Correspondence of the Governors of the British West India Colonies with the Secretary of the State," deals with the official correspondence of the Governors of the West India colonies of that period.

These two booklets are of particular value to students interested in this field, in that the results of Prof. Ragatz's research have been compiled in accessible form, with the year, number and volume of the papers given. Therefore a student who wishes to get out the actual papers may do so without difficulty. The material in both is also listed alphabetically, and in the latter booklet the communications from a given colony are arranged chronologically.

PAN-HELLENIC DANCE PLANNED FOR FEB. 28

The Pan-Hellenic Association is giving a tea dance February 28, from 4 until 7 o'clock, in the Gym. Tickets, which are $1.00, may be obtained from the Registrar's Office or from one of the members of the Pan-Hellenic Association.

The funds obtained from the tea are to be used to send two delegates to the University of Pittsburgh for a conference to be held there March 15-16. This is a regional conference of the undergraduate Pan-Hellenic Association in urban universities. George Washington University will be represented at this conference for the first time.

PYRAMID HONORS FOUR PROMINENT G. W. U. SENIORS

Brown, Walstrom, Goldman And Campbell Are Elected To Membership

DR. HORNADAY IS GIVEN HONORARY MEMBERSHIP

Initiation Will Take Place Tonight at Banquet in Honor of Five New Men

Coveted honors fell to four George Washington University seniors the week just past, when the Pyramid Honor Society elected to membership Elmer Germaine Brown, Joe Davis Walstrom, George W. B. Campbell, and Meyers Goldman. Dr. Frank A. Hornaday, associate University physician and president of the general Alumni Association, was made an honorary member.

News of this action by the Pyramid, which ranks among the highest senior societies in college life, was the subject of general discussion on the campus. The neophytes will be initiated tonight at a banquet held at the Olmstead Grill on G Street.

Distinction for Music

Few college men have a record that compares with that of Elmer Brown at George Washington. He was the musical director of the Troubadours' musical comedy, "Just a Kiss," in 1926. Last year he composed the music for "Not Yet Fleurette," and this year he composed the music and was managing director of "Sharps and Frats."

Brown is a member of the Gate and Key honorary interfraternity society, as well as of Acacia. He is a senior in Columbian College. He is the composer of "Hall, Alma Mater," a new song dedicated to George Washington, which is said to have the promise of a large popularity.

Ghost Editor Chosen

Joe Walstrom is a Columbian College senior, also. Walstrom is Editor-in-Chief of the Ghost. He was humor editor of the comic during the year 1926-1927, when the magazine was revived. He is a former member of the Board of Editors of The Hatchet. As a dramatic editor and writer, he became quite notable. Walstrom is a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, the national collegiate honorary journalism fraternity. He belongs to Theta Upsilon Omega, Gate and Key, and the George Washington University Press Club.

Last year he was the chairman of the publicity committee of the Junior Prom.

Goldman and Campbell

Four years' record in football, during which he helped George Washington in many triumphs, brought Goldman's honor in the Pyramid Society. He has a letter for each season of his gridiron activities.

George Campbell has shot on the varsity rifle team for the past three years, and is manager of the team this year. He is a member of the G. W. Club, past president of the Central Club, and was joint chairman of the Football Hop last year. He is a member of the Alpha Chi Sigma chemical fraternity; member of the George Washington University Chemical Society, and is on the circulation staff of the Ghost. He is a senior in the School of Engineering.

JUNIOR PROM FEB. 17; NOVEL FAVORS PICKED

Carlton Hotel Will Be Scene of Annual Function of Third-Year Class

The Junior Prom will be staged at the Carlton Hotel on the night of February 17, according to latest advice from Charles Baldwin, chairman of the Prom Committee.

Novel favors have been selected. It is understood, and curiosity as to their exact nature is being shown on the campus.

Tickets are expected to go on sale within the next two weeks, and while the places where they will be sold are not yet known, it is said that they may be obtained at the Cashier's Office in Building 1 by the first week in February. It is said that the sale of tickets will be limited, and the committee suggests that they be purchased early.

While the list of patrons, patronesses and official chaperones has not been made public, it is expected that this will be announced shortly.

Johnny Slaughter and his eleven-piece orchestra has been engaged to furnish the music for the event, which will last from 10 until 2, according to the committee.

ALUMNI TO HOLD LUNCHEON

President Cloyd Heck Marvin will be the speaker at the first Alumni Luncheon of the year, which is to be held at the Hotel Lafayette on Saturday, January 28, from 12.30 to 1.30 o'clock.

A large number of alumni are expected to attend the luncheon, at which Dr. F. A. Hornaday, President of the Association, will preside.

PI DELTA EPSILON'S CONTEST

In conducting its editorial contest for college papers, Pi Delta Epsilon, National Honorary Collegiate Journalism Fraternity, is taking a long step forward in the promotion of journalism among college publications. The weakest point in the average college newspaper is not to be found in its news columns, in its make-up, or in its composition. Its most vulnerable spot is in the editorial column.

College editorials, in general, have two or three damning faults—they are aimless, provincial, and the haste in which they are written is often all too evident. They are aimless in the sense that, by and large, they are not written to the point and their sole object in life seems to be to spread the soothing ointment known as "applesauce." College editorial efforts are provincial, since they almost invariably refer to the relatively insignificant, but annoying details of college life. They seldom touch the broader aspects of college. Written, as they generally are, about five minutes before the deadline, college editorials do not and cannot show any appreciable amount of reflective thought. They are written on the spur of the moment with an eye to expediency, rather than policy.

A contest of this nature, properly handled, can do more toward improving collegiate editorial efforts than any other single effort. Pi Delta Epsilon is the organization, if there be one, that can successfully carry out such a contest.

TROUPING WITH THE TROUBADOURS

Hats off to the Troubadours! They have achieved the unattainable—the production of an amateur show in a thoroughly professional manner.

If you were one of the unfortunates who failed to see "Sharps and Frats" last week, and if you believe this paper incapable of an entirely unprejudiced opinion, turn to the laudatory words of that notorious Anvil Chorus, the Washington Dramatic Critics.

Wasn't Jerry Sickler a wow? How about that lil' sailors' chorus? Talk about pep—Janet Sheppard sure had them going! As a leading lady Billy Wright is a little bit of All Wright! Oh those googly, googly eyes of Dora the Dumb! And so on down the list. So runs the campus chatter today.

And rumor has it that the S. S. Silver Phizz will dock at Frederick, Hagerstown, Annapolis, Baltimore, and points north. Breaking into the "Big Time," what? Broadway is the next stop. Such popularity must be deserved.

ABOUT BASKETBALL

The George Washington student body did not lose sight of athletics with the shifting of the spotlight from football to basketball, as was evidenced by the crowd which jammed into the H Street gymnasium to witness the recent games.

The gratifying growth of interest in school activities is but one manifestation of a general awakening on the part of the students. They seem now to realize that there is more to school life than attending classes a required number of hours each week.

May we urge the students to continue their interest in activities, support the teams, attend plays, debates, and share in all other activities. With good support a fair team may become a world beater.

NOT even the ever-nearing approach of the University's "prime evil" could depress the students to such an extent that they were not present in large numbers to take advantage of the half-price at Wardman last week, and incidentally see the musical comedy. It did, however, manage to successfully suppress most other formal and outward social events.

The annual banquet of the Kappa Alpha Order will be held at the Lee House on January 19th under the auspices of the Alumni Association of the D. C. The banquet is given in honor of the birthday of General Robert E. Lee, under whose inspiration the fraternity was founded. It will be attended by several out-of-town guests, and will be followed by dancing.

Julia Denning, Betty Brandenburg, and Helen Walten had luncheon at the Madrilion and attended the performance at Poli's on Saturday afternoon. It is rumored that the tall chorus of "Sharps and Frats" was a decided improvement as a result of technique acquired by Betty and Julia from "One Sunny Day."

Woodrow Wilson Senate of Delta Theta Phi legal fraternity held a smoker at the Carlton Hotel on Saturday night, January 14th. Dean H. G. Doyle, Professor W. L. Moll, and Hugh W. Colton, ex-dean of the Senate, gave short talks.

Acacia Fraternity announces the formal pledging of Harold S. Schild on Thursday, January 12th.

The active Chapter of Phi Sigma Sigma was at home Sunday, January 15, for the Alumni Chapter and the promisees.

The House Committee will serve tea in the Women's Building every day during exams from 4.30 to 5 o'clock.

Albert Ingle attended, as delegate of Alpha Nu Chapter, the thirty-fourth biennial convention of the Kappa Alpha Order, which was held at Atlanta on December 29, 30, and 31. The Washington Alumni Chapter of the fraternity was represented at the convention by Frank H. Myers and Henry K. Muir, graduates of the George Washington Law School.

Hazel Arrington spent the Christmas holidays in New York. She also visited Helen Perlam, a G. W. graduate in East Orange, N. J.

Charles Randall entertained at bridge at his home on R Street on Saturday, January 14.

The George Washington Press Club announces the initiation of Harold L. Jenkins.

The Third Annual Dance of the Avukah, held January 7, at the Lafayette Hotel, proved very successful. Lew Field's Collegiate Commanders furnished the music.

Our heartfelt sympathies are with the poor Phi Sigma Sigmas, who are on a diet, for how can they refrain from candy when ten pounds have recently been forfeited by members who have announced their engagements. The two guilty ones are Bessie Abramson, '28, and Dora Goldiner, '29.

More than 100 couples attended a dance held last Friday night, at the Carlton Hotel by the George Washington and Georgetown University chapters of the Phi Chi Medical fraternity. Several members of the faculties of both schools attended the dance.

Miss Evelyn Jones presided over a tea given by Dean Rose for the George Washington women in Building 8, last Wednesday, from 4 to 6.

The outstanding feature of the tea was a large bunch of pink sweet peas in the center of the table. Miss Jones says that she bought them, but we have our doubts as she nearly scalded herself to death when asked about them. She turned a vivid pink, whether from the hot water or reflection of the pink sweet peas—we leave it to you.

Kappa Beta Pi Legal Sorority initiated pledges Friday, January 6, at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Cox, on Iowa Avenue. Those initiated were Mrs. Elizabeth Casteel, Mrs. Ann Musgrave, Esther Warlick, and Marion Campbell. After the initiation, a surprise came in the form of a combination birthday party. It was revealed that it was the birthday of Ruth Tech, Dean of the Chapter, and of Marion Campbell.

The regular monthly meeting of Beta Chapter, Phi Delta Gamma, followed by a tea, was held at the home of Mary Williams, the corresponding secretary of the chapter. Dean Anna Rose was a guest.

The new chapter of Phi Delta Gamma, although just recently organized, promises to become an effective organization in the school life of the University. The officers are Miss DuBois, president; Ora Marshino, secretary; Edith Hayden, acting secretary; Esther Colvin, treasurer; Mary Williams, corresponding secretary; and Margaret A. Klein, publicity secretary.

Omicron Alpha Tau announces the formal pledging of Allan Rossuck, Robert Ritt, Harry Lipkin, and Morris Ginsberg.

Omicron Alpha Tau fraternity held its annual convention during the Christmas holidays at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City. All the members of Tau Chapter at George Washington University were present. There was a business session held each day of the convention. The first day was devoted to a chancellor's convention followed by a dinner to the delegates and chancellors. There was a formal dance at the Waldorf and the following evening a formal stag banquet was partaken of in the Maple and East Room. On Monday, December 26, a dance and carnival was held at the Waldorf Apartments to the strains of Vincent Lopez music.

Next year's convention will be held in Syracuse, N. Y., where Zeta Chapter is located.

Sam Geller of Mu Chapter, a recent visitor at the O. A. T. house.

CHI OMEGA BANNER MISSING SINCE FAIR

A Chi Omega banner was misplaced the night of the County Fair, members of the fraternity announce. They ask any person who knows of its whereabouts to please notify some member of Chi Omega. This is the second banner which disappeared at this time, the Phi Mu banner also being missing.

OFFICIAL UNIVERSITY NOTICES

The attention of student organizations is called to the regulations concerning social affairs published in the University Handbook and particularly to the regulation under which such affairs shall close not later than one a. m. (on Saturdays not later than twelve, midnight.) This regulation applies to general University affairs such as the Junior Prom, and to the Interfraternity Prom and Pan-Hellenic Prom, as well as to parties given by individual organizations.

The chapel services will be suspended during Examination Week, to be resumed on January 31. President Marvin will conduct the service on Friday, February 3.

NEW COURSE STARTS UNDER DORSEY HYDE

Dorsey W. Hyde, Jr., secretary of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, is to begin a course here next semester on "Community Organization." There will be presented various phases of the subject, including the political, economic, sociological, and religious aspects.

Mr. Hyde's wide experience enables him to give many viewpoints, since he has served as former assistant manager of the civic development division of the United States Chamber of Commerce, municipal reference librarian of New York City, statistician of the Packard Motor Co. of Detroit, and director of the American City Research Bureau of New York.

The new semester begins January 30, and the registration will start January 20.

GRADS PLEDGE TWO MILLION PRINCETON, N. J. (IP).—The Graduate Council of Princeton, an alumni organization, has pledged itself to raise two million dollars for a fund to be used in raising the salaries of the university faculty.

Hatchetmen Trim Indians In Thriller

COLONIALS TAKE GAME BY POINT

William And Mary Loses Spectacular Game In Last Few Minutes of Play

CAREY STARS FOR G. W.

Indians Take Lead Early in Second Half But Lose at End of Last Quarter

George Washington University scored 34 points over William and Mary's 33 to score a win over the Indians in the William and Mary Gymnasium on Saturday, January 14, in a game which in the words of the Williamsburg scribes, "was the fastest and most intense game that has ever been played in the Blow Gymnasium."

Clever floor work and accurate and spectacular shooting kept the spectators alive with interest at all times. The Colonials were the first to score when Carey tossed the ball through the ring for two points in the first minute of play. Light, dangerous William and Mary guard, came through with a beautiful shot from mid-floor and Silverman put his team into the lead with a free toss which rang true.

Game Nip and Tuck

From beginning to end the game was a nip and tuck affair, neither team leading the other by more than a point or two. The Indians, however, took command of the situation at the opening of the second half and led for the greater part of the period. The Colonials approached within two points of the leaders several times, but dropped behind as Indian marksmen found the hoop with less than two minutes to play.

Goodson's shot gave the Colonials the lead which William and Mary was unable to overcome in the short time to play.

Carey led the Colonials' attack both in scoring and floor work. Goodson and Sapp also came in for a great portion of the glory. Silverman and Light, for William and Mary, were brilliant even in defeat.

History Club Hears Talk On "Washington"

John Claggett Proctor, well known historian, gave an interesting talk to the History Club Thursday night on the "History of Old Washington." He described vividly the life in the Capital as it was a century smaller, than at present but one with a brilliant past—Georgetown with its quaint houses and famous landmarks, the city with its badly lighted and badly paved streets echoing to the tramp of marching feet—the hub of the nation, backward in many respects but with a brilliant social life inspired by its famous presidents.

At a business meeting held after the lecture, plans for the next meeting were discussed and arrangements made for a page in the Cherry Tree.

SIGMA CHI'S SUFFER

PALO ALTO, Calif. (IP).—Severe penalties, both as a group and personally, have been imposed on the Stanford Chapter of Sigma Chi as a result of that organization having had liquor in its house in violation of a university ruling. Nine members were expelled by the university, and the organization's lease cancelled. The national order also punished the chapter by suspending its members for various lengths of time, according to their guilt, and by suspending the charter of the group for one year or until further notice.

FIELD HOUSE AT INDIANA

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (IP).—Contracts for a new $300,000 field house for the University of Indiana will be let within a few days. The new building will be 300 by 200 feet and 70 feet high, and will accommodate a crowd of 15,000.

PELTZER IN CALIFORNIA

PALO ALTO, Calif. (IP).—Dr. Otto H. Peltzer, holder of the world's record of 1.51.5 in the half-mile run, recently took a turn around the cinder track here. Dr. Peltzer, who is a teacher of history and geography at Wickersdorf Junior College, Germany, is touring the United States as a student of economic conditions. He will represent Germany in the Olympic events next summer.

HARVARD TOPS YALE IN "WINS"

COLONIAL TEAM TRIMS HAMPDEN-SIDNEY FIVE

Teams Tie, 10-10 at End of First Half; Game Ends With Score at 28 to 15

The Hampden-Sidney basketball team went down to defeat last Thursday night in Farmville, Va., at the hands of the Colonial quintet by a score of 28 to 15.

The first half, characterized by careful guarding and cautious play resulted in a foul shooting contest between the two fives, until, at the end of 15 minutes of play, Henry Sapp, George Washington guard, went through the Tiger defense for the first field goal of the game.

Tie at Half

The first half ended in a tie score, each side having registered ten points. However, the Hatchet cagemen had uncovered their opponents by this time and, with the start of the second period, forged ahead for a lead which they maintained for the rest of the game.

Jim Carey, fast forward on the George Washington team proved the star of the game, sinking 6 field goals, while Horton and Strader of the Hampden-Sidney team showed excellent form for the losers.

The game was marked by frequent substitutions, with the following players entering the game:

STUDENTS CAKE EATERS SAYS BROWN DIETITIAN

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (IP).—College men are cake eaters, according to the facts revealed by the dietitian of the Brown University Dining Room.

More cake is eaten than any other type of dessert. Chocolate cake is preferred above them all by the students. Football players prefer ice cream as their desert. Cake, nevertheless, is often ordered along with the ice cream.

Whipped cream also is liked very much by the students.

As to pie—chocolate, whipped cream pie holds the leading place in the scale of popularity, with apple pie and cheese running a close second.

In the more substantial foods, steaks and chops are the most popular. Lettuce and other green vegetables, however, are desired by a large number of undergraduates.

Although the championship football team of last year was influential in making milk drinking the vogue, coffee has now won the first place among the beverages served. Close scrutiny has failed to reveal many tea toppers.

"ONE-EYED CONNELLY" "CRASHES" AT STANFORD

PASADENA, Calif. (IP).—With victory comes defeat and reports are that, while the Stanford football team carried itself to a glorious victory at the Rose Bowl, a single man defeated the many Stanford officials and policemen who attempted to keep everyone without a ticket outside the gates of the stadium.

"When you return to the university, say that one man defeated Stanford," stated "One-eyed" Connelly, world-famed champion gate-crasher. "I occupied one of the best seats in the stadium during the entire game."

"How did you do it," he was asked. "It was easier than I expected," he replied. "All I did was walk in the main gate."

DEAN HAD ONLY $1.09

SEATTLE, Wash. (IP).—"When I first came to Seattle in 1909, I had $1.09 in my pocket with which to purchase either food or sleeping accommodations. After consideration I decided to buy the victuals, so the first night I slept in a shavings and lumber yard and the second in the Asbury Methodist Church."

Such was the beginning of life-after-home for Vernon McKenzie, just made dean of the school of journalism at the University of Washington.

"Then," he adds, "I obtained a job on the Times and an advance of my pay-check with which to secure more desirable accommodations. My entrance yesterday was under somewhat different circumstances."

COLONIALS LOSE TO AMERICAN U.

Methodists' Whirlwind Finish Causes Downfall of Hatchet-ite Quintet

SPECTATORS PACK GYM

Spectacular Rallies by Both Teams Feature Closely-Contested Battle in H Street Gym

The American University basketball five staged a whirlwind finish which enabled them to score a thrilling victory over the George Washington Colonials after they trailed by six points. A frenzied crowd packed the H Street Gymnasium on January 10, to see the Colonials fall to a fast passing and accurate shooting Methodist combination.

Diminutive Bruce Kessler, American University floor general was the mainstay in the Methodists' attack. His uncanny shooting from all positions on the floor and from almost any angle enabled this team to forge to the front when its hopes were low, this fact is attested by the fact that his five goals and foul shot accounted for nearly half of his team's total.

Rivalry is Keen

While the game was an exhibition of basketball was not of championship caliber it was at all times close and intense, if for no other reason than the rivalry which made itself felt not only among the fans but also among the players themselves.

During the first half of the game the score was for the most time even, neither team holding at any time more than a three or four-point advantage. With the score tied at six all, Kessler began making his presence felt. Pairing up with Birthright on an excellent off center play, the little fellow scored a pair of two-pointers from beyond the foul line to give his team a lead of 11 to 8 at the end of half time.

A five-point advantage gained by Kessler's spectacular work and Birthright's double-deck score at the opening of the second half gave the American U. tossers a calm confidence which seemed to throw the Colonials off their stride.

Colonials Rally

The Colonials came to life with a rush in one of the most spectacular rallies ever seen at the University Gymnasium by the cash customers. Lopeman paved the way for the rally by ringing a foul toss, a rapid succession of baskets by Goodson, Perry, Lopeman and Carey brought the game to a climax.

Seruegs, however, scoring his only basket of the game, killed the chance G. W. had at victory when he provided the margin of victory after the Methodists had again tied the score late in the game.

Carey and Perry played brilliantly for the Colonials, while Capt. Birthright and Kessler were the big factors in American University's triumph. The line-up and summary:

INTEREST IN SWIMMING IS STEADILY GROWING

Classes Open For Beginners and Experienced Swimmers

Swimming, under the instruction of Mrs. Virginia Hopkins Russell, has become an extremely popular sport among the women of the University, and although ranking, at present, as a minor sport, it has hopeful prospects of claiming a major standing.

The most important work being undertaken by the advanced classes, now, is the Red Cross Life Saving. Land Drill is first practiced in order to learn the positions, after which the instructions are carried out in the tank. The Red Cross Life Saving Emblem is the object for which the members are striving.

Instruction for beginners is also offered. A plan is still under consideration by which the winning of a certain number of points will merit a G. W. letter.

Swimming meets with other colleges are hoped for and arrangements are being made, although, so far, no definite plans have been submitted.

Afternoon classes in swimming are from 4 to 4.30 p. m. on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, in the tank at the Y. W. C. A., on K Street N. W. Evening lessons are given on Tuesday and Friday from 7.30 to 8 p. m., in the "Y" pool, on E Street.

Second Stage Of Nat. Championship Is Shot

Helen Taylor Has High Score With Total of 199; Four Girls Make "Possibles"

The second stage of the National Rifle Association Individual Woman's Championship was shot Saturday, January 14.

Four girls made "possibles" in the match. Helen Taylor made high score, with a final total of 199, the highest that has been made this year. Betty Clark made a total of 198; Helen Prentiss scored a 197 and Roberta Wright a 194. Those who shot were Betty Clark, Manager, Helen Taylor, Captain, Naomi Crumley, Gene Cuvillier, Majorie Folsom, Helen Humphrey, Sue Jamison, Verna Parsons, Christine Stewart, Roberta Wright, Arline Spencer, Minnie Asmuth, Helen Prentiss, India Bell Corea, Betty Joyce Graham and Catherine Weller.

The final squad cut will come sometime before examinations and the beginners and inter-class matches will be shot shortly after exams are over.

Helen Prentiss and Gene Cuvillier have been appointed as new Assistant Managers in Rifle for the coming year.

OREGON DEBATERS ARRESTED

EUGENE, Ore. (IP).—Word was recently received that two of the University of Oregon around-the-world debate tour members, Avery Thompson and Bonoit McCrokey, were arrested in Nagasaki, Japan, on the charge of photographing a fortified zone.

The boys were detained for several hours but after a plea of ignorance of the law were released, and their negatives confiscated.

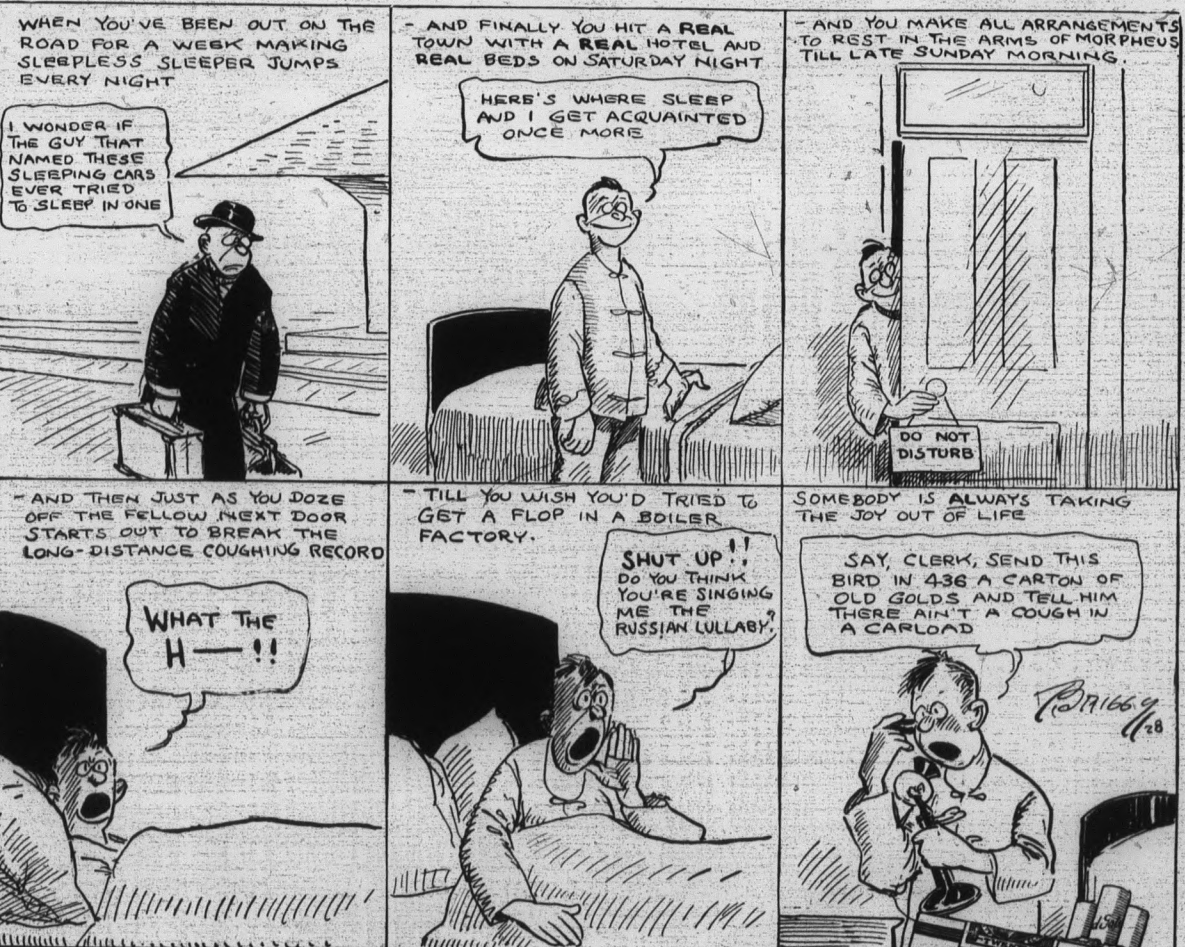

CO-EDS LIKE HOCKEY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (IP).—Co-eds at Ohio State University enjoy field hockey more than any other college sport. It is learned from women's physical education authorities here. Volley ball and swimming run a close second. Correctives—learning to stand up straight and breathe properly—are the bane of the co-ed's life.

CO-ED BASKETERS COMPLETE SEVEN OF CLASS GAMES

Seniors And Sophomores Leading With Two Victories And No Defeats Each

FINAL ROUND WILL BE PLAYED AFTER EXAMS

Several Players Show Exceptional Promise of Being Varsity Material

The seven preliminary games in the Women's Interclass Basketball series were played off in the Gymnasium on Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoons, January 11, 12 and 13.

The opening game of the series which was played between the Freshman team and the Sophomores was the closest and most interesting match of the series. Both teams were on their toes in anticipation of the other's tricks and passes from the first whistle to the last minute of play. The contest was good and very speedy but in spite of valiant efforts on the part of both teams the final score was a 19-19 tie.

This tie was played off on Friday and owing to some pretty team work on the Sophomore side, the Freshman I team was conquered with a score of 32-18. Sowers and Crumley, at forward, worked well together. Turnbull put in some excellent work in passing the ball through center. She was assisted by Hobbs and Irey, alternately, and Kyle at guard played a very good offensive game. McGregor, in the Freshman forward field sank most of the shots for her team.

Seniors Score Over Freshmen II

The second game, between the Seniors and the Freshman II team, was a walk away for the Seniors, who won with a score of 44-8. Louise Omwake, in the forward line made most of her shots count, sinking 41 points for their victory. Brandenburg and Zimmerman, guarding the Freshman forward territory, made scoring difficult for their opponents. In spite of the uneven score, the game was not slow.

On Thursday, the Sophomores vanquished the Freshman III team without exerting themselves and ran up 48 points to the 7 counts for the Freshmen. Crumley and Sowers both caged their shots with precision, rarely missing a chance to score.

Juniors Defeated

In the second match on Thursday, the Freshman I squad flashed through to a surprising victory over the Juniors with a score of 33-16. Lawton and McGregor, in the Freshman forward line scored brilliantly in spite of the strong defense of the Junior guards, Zimmerman and Stewart. Palmer, Freshman guard, was a worthy opponent for Louise Omwake. The combination of Denning and Alverson, at center, provided a good exhibition of team work against the effective playing of the Freshman centers, Albert and Sprout. The Juniors suffered another defeat, on Friday, at the hands of a Freshman team, when the Freshman I's gained 17 points to the 14 caged for the Juniors. The Freshmen were short one player, so the Juniors agreed to an irregular game, playing only Crouch at forward, while the Freshmen had two forwards and one guard. The game was a very close one; both sides showed good playing, with little lost motion. Bannerson starred as forward, scoring 11 points out of the 17 for her team.

In the second contest on Friday, the Seniors sent the Freshman III team to the same ignominious defeat as they had sent the second team earlier in the series. The score was 44-10. Omwake and Blackstone scored dropped 16 balls into the basket in the first half for 32 points and heaped up 12 more counts in the last half.

All these games were refereed by Miss Eugenia Davis, who is now preparing a schedule for the second round of games, which will be played after examination week.

Princeton Men "Cards" Says Veteran Engineer

Railroad Man Claims Tigers Are Not As Frankish As They Used To Be

PRINCETON, N. J. (IP).—Bill Stonaker, veteran engineer on the Junction branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad, when asked by a reporter to comment on modern developments in the college man, readily waxed reminiscent.

"It is 25 years," said Mr. Stonaker, "since I've been on the Princeton to Princeton Junction branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and college boys have changed a lot since I started. They ain't so kiddish as they used to be—now they're grown-up like and act like old men."

"Why, I remember when the seniors used to come down here to the station after graduation and throw each other through the car windows; it would get down to where only two or three were left, then the others would come out of the cars and throw the last ones in—and they got a lot of fun out of it; catch any senior now-days throwing or being thrown through a window!"

"Then sometimes they would get real frankish and trim my engine with flowers—buttercups, and daisies on a locomotive! Oh, they were cards!"

Asked about hazing, the veteran railroad man replied, "There ain't no hazing no more at all, but they sure used to make it hard for the freshman when they did. Many's the time I've seen freshmen rolling peanuts down Blair steps with their noses. There again the boys are too old now, too grown up—and 'fastidysus!' Why the boys all look like President Hibben now."

"They never used to wear anything but old clothes and slouch hats except when they were going to see their girls or on Sunday—now those are the times they don't dress up, I can't make them out. They sure are cards!"

HONOR GOPHER DOCTOR

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (IP).—Dr. Frederic Schultz, chief of the department of pediatrics in the University of Minnesota Medical School, has received word of his election as an honorary member of the Argentine National Academy of Medicine.

He is one of the few foreigners ever honored by election to this academy. He became acquainted with members of the medical profession in Argentina during a trip which he made to that country in a professional capacity last summer.

CAMPUS CANS HALT FIREMEN

SEATTLE, Wash. (IP).—Local city firemen from station houses in the vicinity of the University of Washington, are protesting that it is almost impossible for them to reach a fire because the minute a fire goes rings, the college men pile into their campus cans and block all traffic in their rush to the blaze. Measures are to be taken to keep the students from blocking the way for the firemen.

PLAN EASTERN COURT LEAGUE

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (IP).—Not to be outdone by their New England and Big Ten friends, ten colleges are planning the formation of an Eastern Conference Basketball League. The proposed league would include Syracuse, Colgate, New York University, Rutgers, Lafayette, Lehigh, Penn State, Georgetown, West Virginia, and Pittsburgh.

FOOTBALL TAKES TOLL OF 17

OBERLIN, Ohio (IP).—Five college football players were killed in playing the game last season, and twelve high school or professional players died from injuries received in the game, making a total of 17 fatalities in the autumn sport this season. There were 100 cases of major injuries also reported throughout the season.

Opportunity to Study Abroad Offered In Tours Planned by Prof. Foster

Hiking, Automobiles, Aeroplanes Included As Various Means of Transportation In Different European Tours—Foster Well Qualified To Lead Party By Virtue of Six Years Abroad

Students who are not content with studying at the University Summer School, or who do not care to indulge in the more poetic profession of loafing, will have an opportunity to combine business with pleasure this summer.

Prof. Ralph B. Foster, of the Romance Language Department is planning to take a party of students to Europe for study and travel during the coming summer. Prof. Foster expects to organize several parties, and expects to accompany either the one studying in Paris or that which will center its interests around Madrid.

The Parisian group will sail from New York on June 23. The first stop will be in Plymouth, and from there a week of sightseeing in England is planned to precede the five-week course at the Sorbonne. In connection with this course, there will be frequent trips around Paris and to nearby places such as Fontainebleau and Versailles.

This tour will be concluded with a trip through Switzerland and the Midi of France. August 31, has been set as the date for the return to New York.

Nearly a week will be spent in Paris, and then Nimes and Carcassonne will be visited before the group begins a four-week course at Madrid. Two weeks of sightseeing in Granada, Seville, and Cordova will round out the trip. The tour will sail from New York on June 30, and will return on September 7.

Other study and travel tours have been arranged to include summer courses at Rome, Geneva, Berlin, London, Cambridge, and perhaps Oxford. There will also be sightseeing tours, varying in duration, itinerary, and means of travel. Most of these tours feature motor travel, but one calls for hiking and another for aeroplanes. The groups will be limited to 25 or less, with a chaperone and a conductor for each group.

Professor Foster is assembling information about all available summer courses in Europe, and will be glad to give the details to those interested. Announcements have already been received from Heidelberg, Nancy, and Toulouse, in addition to those previously mentioned.

While a student at Oxford, Prof. Foster had 28 weeks' vacation each year for travel. War service lengthened his stay abroad to six years, and two trips abroad since the war have not stopped his travel urge.

The professor will be glad to help others who are interested in traveling to secure all possible information before departure.

DEBATERS HOLD MOCK DEMOCRATIC MEETING

At Smith Wins Majority Vote in Nominating Convention Despite Vigorous Speeches

Appropriate with the Jackson Day celebration of the Democratic party the Columbian Debating Society held a mock Democratic nominating convention on January 13, with the Honorable Mr. Frisby proposing the name of Governor Al Smith as the most logical Democratic nominee for President.

Charles Laughlin opposed this nomination vigorously, and succeeded in preventing the required two-thirds majority vote being cast for Al Smith. However his efforts did not prevent a majority vote in his favor, and it was conceded that had these delegates of last year were allowed they would have succeeded in obtaining the necessary two-thirds majority.

The society will hold no meetings on January 20 or 27, because of the mid-year exams. The weekly meetings will be resumed on February 3, at which time the current topic of Capital Punishment will be discussed. On February 10, the first Varsity Debate of the year, is scheduled to take place. The Columbian Debating Society will attend this debate in a body, after which they will hold their own meeting and debate.

CLAIMS AERIAL RECORD

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (IP).—Challenging the claim of the University of Cincinnati for the champion student flyer, the University of Minnesota brings forth the record of George A. MacDonald, mechanical engineering '27, who broke all records of the Naval Reserve Corps in learning to fly in three hours and 40 minutes. The incident occurred at the Great Lakes training station during the summer of 1924 while MacDonald was training for his commission as ensign in the Naval Reserve.

After the short lesson flight MacDonald, who is vice president of the Mohawk Aircraft Co. of Minneapolis, flew for two hours with a safety pilot in a solo flight.

In 1925 Mr. MacDonald received his commission as ensign in the Naval Reserve Corps aviation division.

THIS BRITON GRIPES

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (IP).—The lack of adequate facilities for having one's shoes "furbished up," and the American custom of "cutting in" at dances, are the chief complaints made against the United States by P. J. Nugue, assistant headmaster of Rodley School, England, who is visiting with several of his colleagues in this country.

PINCHED FOR DEGREE

OBERLIN, Ohio (IP).—A law in Prussia prescribes that all Prussian citizens who obtain an academic degree outside of the country may attach it to their names only if given special permission by the ministry of education. A Prussian who graduated from an American university was brought into court on the charge of violating this rule, and showed that he had always used the title, "Dr. Phil. in U. S. A."

"LADY" SHAVES MUSTACHE

COLUMBUS, Ohio (IP).—Playing a feminine part in a university stage production meant a real sacrifice to Robert C. Hines, of Ohio State University. He was forced to shave off a mustache raised after several difficult months.

HARVARD MEN IN AIR

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (IP).—Ninety-two hours and 20 minutes in the air, and 8300 miles flown is the total of aeronautic action rolled up so far this college year by the Harvard Flying Club.

SYRACUSE VOTES FOR EIGHT MINOR SPORTS

Students Disapprove of Plan to Replace Minor Sports With Intramural Program

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (By Syracuse Daily Orange and Intercollegiate Press).—Syracuse students were almost unanimous in expressing their disapproval of the Athletic Governing Board's action in abolishing eight minor sports, results of the Daily Orange minor sports referendum indicated.

A total of 582 ballots was cast in the referendum. Of this number 543 voted in favor of question 5, stating, "I do not approve the action of the Athletic Governing Board in abolishing the eight minor sports."

Only 23 votes were in favor of question 1, stating, "I approve of the action of the Athletic Governing Board in abolishing eight minor sports and suggesting an intramural sports program as a substitute."

Sixteen ballots were not checked for either proposition.

That Syracuse students do not favor an intramural sports program and the abolition of the minor sports is also indicated by the fact that only 28 students would favor an intramural program if Syracuse had the proper facilities to carry out such a program.

Over 200 votes, however, were cast for an intramural sports program in conjunction with the continuance of the intercollegiate competition of the minor sports teams.

The straw vote of the undergraduates was taken by the Daily Orange after the Athletic Governing Board of the University had announced its intention of abolishing all minor sport intercollegiate activities and substituting instead an extensive intramural program.

General Meeting of G. W. Faculty Is Held

President And Secretary of National Education Association And Dr. Winship Speak

A general meeting of the faculty was held in Corcoran Hall Room 1, Monday evening, January 9.

The first speakers of the evening were Miss Cornelia Adair, President of the National Education Association, and Mr. J. W. Crabtree, Secretary of the National Education Association. Both congratulated the University upon its recent gift of a million dollars. Miss Adair and Mr. Crabtree complimented the President and the faculty of the University on the fine work being done here, and expressed their pleasure of being on the platform with Dr. A. E. Winship, the prominent editor, lecturer and educator.

The title of Dr. Winship's address was, "A Forward Look." He emphasized the fact that his interest was not in the past, but the present. Dr. Winship pointed out the importance of the movement going on to unify the country, which was due chiefly to the spark plug and cement movements, or the automobile and roads. He further emphasized the strides of the Southern States in education and the change from the previous direction of East to West, to the present of North to South.

I. P. IS YEAR OLD

OBERLIN, Ohio. (IP).—The Intercollegiate Press celebrated its first birthday this week by announcing that in one year its membership has grown from nothing to 70 college and university papers. The latest addition to the membership role was the Syracuse Daily Orange.

STUDENTS SNOW-BOUND

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (IP).—Old Man Weather plotted against Syracuse University students and prevented scores of them from getting back to the university for their first classes after the Christmas vacation. They were held up by snow storms. The dean proved lenient.

STUDENTS WIRE APOLOGIES

SEATTLE, Wash. (IP).—Students at the University of Washington have wired official apologies to the students of Stanford for the action of Washington fans at the Stanford-Washington game here, who took the Stanford cheerleader's megaphone away from him and when he gave chase, tackled him, throwing him into the mud. It is claimed that Seattle high school students are responsible for the rowdism.

HARVARD AND YALE IN CHESS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (IP).—Contestants outnumbered spectators ten to one in the annual chess tournament between Harvard and Yale played here recently. Harvard won, 9-1.

IS MADE HEAD AT DENVER

DENVER, Colo. (IP).—Dr. Frederick Maurice Hunter, superintendent of public instruction in Oakland, Calif., has been named to succeed Dr. Herbert Reece Harper as chancellor of Denver University.

AMHERST STUDENTS QUIT

AMHERST, Mass. (IP).—The manner of administering punishment for infractions of college rules, and the habit of the college in employing a watchman to spy on students while an honor system was supposedly in effect, has led to the resignation of the officers of the student government of Amherst College.

PROFESSOR IS DEAD

HANOVER, N. H. (IP).—Word has been received of the sudden death of Plymouth, England, of Herbert Spring Foster, professor of history at Dartmouth. His death took place at a dance at which he was a guest while on leave of absence.

BIRDSEYE TALKS OF CANYON TRIP

Topographical Engineer Tells A. S. C. E. of Experiences In Grand Canyon

RELATES MANY DANGERS

Moving Pictures Vividly Portray Survey Party Shooting Rapids Amidst Dangerous Rocks

The Grand Canyon and its enchantments and the risks and dangers to be met by one who dares to make a trip down it were vividly portrayed by Colonel C. H. Birdseye, Chief Topographical Engineer of the Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, in his illustrated lecture before the George Washington Chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers last Friday night. Approximately fifty, including several women, were assembled in Corcoran Hall 23 to hear the noted explorer relate his experiences on his trip in the summer of 1923 down the Grand Canyon of the Colorado River in Arizona.

"We did not have many adventures," Colonel Birdseye modestly stated. "We were prepared for any contingency that might arise. We had everything that we thought we should have."

Sixth Party Since 1881

The party of explorers, composed of Colonel Birdseye, R. W. Burchard, topographic engineer; E. C. La Rue, hydraulic engineer, and a few others, started their trip down the canyon from Lee's Ferry. This party, according to Colonel Birdseye, was the sixth to dare the dangers of the Grand Canyon since 1881.

The audience could see in the moving picture that supplemented Colonel Birdseye's lecture the dangers that were encountered by the party in making a survey of the Grand Canyon. Although the rapids were extremely dangerous to the lives of the men and to the good condition of their boats, the party made only two portages during the whole trip. They made these portages when it was utterly impossible to shoot through two extremely dangerous rapids. One of these two is the famous Sockodoger rapids.

"Shooting the rapids is a great sport after you have been used to it," said Colonel Birdseye.

Had Radio Set

Colonel Birdseye and his companions were kept in touch with the outside world by a two-tube radio set. It was through it that they learned of President Harding's death. They named the place where they camped that day Harding's Point.

The pictures shown were beautifully colored. The colorings are not exaggerated," said Colonel Birdseye. It could be readily seen why thousands of tourists are attracted every year by the Grand Canyon.

The party were provided with provisions, supplies and mail at different points. New trails were often blazed to reach the explorers.

They had to do their own washing. The film portrayed before the future engineers showed Mr. La Rue washing "the dirty linens of the party." Colonel Birdseye resented the title of this particular part of the film, and said that Mr. La Rue was washing his own only. Mr. La Rue was the one who took the picture of the trip and also the one who wrote the piquant titles.

The party ended on October 19, 1923 at Needles, after a distance of 135 miles had been covered by the survey party. This trip is considered by authorities in the engineering world one of the most dangerous ever undertaken by American engineers.

W. B. Clapham, president of the local chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers, introduced Colonel Birdseye. Due to lack of time, Howard Burd, a George Washington student scheduled to speak on aerial photographic surveying after Colonel Birdseye, was not able to talk last Friday night. According to Clapham, Burd will speak at the next meeting of the society on February 10.

Returns to His Favorite Tobacco

Borneo, Texas
Oct. 14, 1926

Larus & Bro. Co.
Richmond, Va.
Dear Sir:

I am a prodigal son. I began pipe-smoking with Edgeworth. But after a while I began to wander, trying other tobaccos, experimenting to see if there were any better tobacco for the pipe.

I have tried most of the best known brands and a number of the more obscure, both imported and domestic, but they didn't suit.

So now I have returned—I am using Edgeworth again, satisfied that no better tobacco is made.

"And the prodigal son partook of the fatted calf"; I bought a new pipe when I returned to Edgeworth.

With many thanks for my cool, mel-low, sweet smokes, I am,

Very truly yours,

"H. D."

BENEFITS FROM COLLEGE SOCIAL SAYS MENCKEN

Prominent Author Is Opposed To College For Intellectual Education

FAVORS AMERICAN PLAN OF ORGANIZED CLASSES

Mercury Editor Advises Any One Learning to Write to Hold Another Job to Pay Expenses

ITHICA, N. Y. (By Cornell Daily Sun and Intercollegiate Press).—"I am thoroughly convinced," H. L. Mencken told a representative of the Cornell Daily Sun, "that too many young Americans are now going to college and that their presence is greatly impeding the work of the colleges. Certainly it should be possible to devise some scheme, to weed out the unfit."

Mencken is essentially opposed to the college for purposes of intellectual education. With Nathan he holds that its greatest benefits are social. He did not go to college himself, though he was an excellent scholar, obtaining high averages in almost every subject. He is particularly interested in medicine and chemistry and was graduated with honors from the Baltimore Polytechnic Institute in 1896. There are many things about college life, however that interest Mencken. Mr. Mencken remarked, "The military training idea seems to me absurd. I see no reason why the college student should be conscripted and not the young man outside."

Opposes English System

Another aspect of colleges that interests Mr. Mencken is the discrepancies used between the organization policies in this country and those abroad. He seems to believe that, for Americans, the present system of organized classes and lectures and recitations is better than the tutorial system used abroad.

"The American system, it seems to me," he says, "is better for Americans than the Oxford system. It is obviously more in accord with the habits of mind of our people."

Although he declares his familiarity with college life to be slight, he says, "Certainly the attendance of graduate students at classes ought to be optional. But I am in some doubt about undergraduates."

Mencken's comment on fraternities is: "Regarding fraternities I know nothing. It is commonly alleged that they foster snobbery. But I see no objection to snobbery, per se; all rational men are snobs in some way or other. That the fraternities exact fifth-raters and overlook men of merit may be true, but the same accusation might be leveled at any other human institution."

The Mercury editor advises anyone attempting to start in as a writer to have another job which will pay his expenses while he is learning. Until recently he advocated bootlegging as the other job, but he now thinks there is too much competition there.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS SEEKS WRITER

Weekly Magazine of Student Life Needs Correspondent; Would Cover All Activities

The Intercollegiate News, a weekly publication covering every phase of college life, is seeking a student to act as reporter and writer.

This position will be given to the student who best qualifies. In order that the best one may serve the University, each applicant is asked to write an article covering the past week, on every activity at the school. Since the magazine will discuss the doings at thirty-nine other colleges, the article should not be larger than what can be printed on one page of the magazine, "Time."

The Intercollegiate News is the only publication covering the college and university field, and is devoted to all phases, educational, social, athletic, and faculty.

An ambitious and capable student can earn easily between ten and twenty-five dollars a week. The student who qualifies will be given full particulars.

All communications should be addressed to The Beacon Company, P. O. Box 3262, Boston, Mass.

UNUSUAL TRACK MEET IS HELD BY BOWDOIN COACH

Varsity Track Stars Take Part in Blind Meet

BRUNSWICK, Me. — (Bowdoin Orient and Intercollegiate Press).—Last week Coach Jack Magee, of Bowdoin, held another of his unique track meets, this time a blind meet for varsity men.

Each man drew a slip of paper with three events listed on it and each had to take part in the three events on his slip and in no others. Two exceptions were made to this rule, no striplings were forced to toss the 36-pound weight, nor were any 200-pounders forced to run the distance events.

Some of the results of the draw were ludicrous. For example, Bernard Lucas, star hurdler, drew the 440-yard dash, pole vault and shot put; Art Seelye, two-miler, was forced to compete in the 36-pound weight, high jump, and high hurdles; while the big Dick Brown drew the high hurdles, pole vault, and 440. The meet was designed to bring out some hidden talent. It provided much amusement.

PROF. ALDEN DIRECTS THIS WEEK'S CHAPELS

The chapel exercises this week were under the supervision of Prof. Alden. On Tuesday, January 10, Prof. Alden spoke about "Character," and stressed the fact that too many have one-sided characters.

On Thursday, January 12, only devotional services were held, as Prof. Alden could not be present. The chapel services on Tuesday, January 17, were in the hands of Prof. Kayser.

LOVE AFFAIRS MIXED IN SHARPS AND FRATS

Hatchet Critic Finds, However, That All Becomes Untangled in The End

If college love affairs are not enduring, they are entangling to say the least. One thing certain, Rosella, Bob, Dora, and Reginald managed to get their affections hopelessly entangled in "Sharps and Frats," a collegiate farce in two acts presented by the G. W. Troubadours at Wardman Park Theatre, the week of January 9 to 14.

In a fraternity house garden grew the affairs that afterward got twisted on board the "S. S. Silver Phizz," a floating University. Rosella Wedgworth (Billie Wright) and Bob Stanwell (Earl Nalls) agreed to disagree because of jealousy, and switched their affections to Reginald Hanzspring (Max Tendler) and Dora Quackenbusch (Louise Littlepage).

Even Alfonso deMorian (Johnson Heare) puts his finger into it; but Hattie Smith (Janet Sheppard) confined all "As." Mrs. Quackenbusch (Burris Williams) with a view to getting all "A's." Mrs. Quackenbusch (Marion Campbell) kept a watchful eye on her husband—except when she was flirting with the captain of the "S. S. Silver Phizz." Ben Rosepzig (Jerry Sickler), the dance man consents to lend his poetic nature to the cause.

And so amid the distracting influences of sea-sickness and the interruptions of a drunken sailor, whose cabin window curtain was on fire, the misunderstandings were straightened out. Even Prof. Quackenbusch becomes president of "some college," and Hattie was promised all "As."

With Larry Parker writing the book and lyrics, and Elmer Brown the music, the third annual musical comedy of the Troubadours was produced under the direction of Denis Connell.

"I'll Be the Girl," "Over a Garden Gate," and "So Long to the Blues" were the catchy song numbers that a dancing chorus of charming co-eds put over.

"Flunking" Students Get Second Chance

Scheme Opposed But Columbus Principal Says That His Method Obtains Results

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—Flunking high school students will be enabled to clear educational hurdles and break down textbook barriers with less difficulty, if the idea of a Columbus high school principal is accepted by his colleagues.

H. C. Marshall, the principal, has before other school heads here a plan through which students who fail in one semester are passed with their class, and given throughout the second semester to make up their work. It was inaugurated in his school some time ago.

The idea, Marshall said, was an innovation in the educational realm. Opponents said it was merely an injustice to the pupils.

"It is pernicious. Failing pupils will 'take it easy' with the assurance of a second chance," they declared. With Marshall, however, results are what count.

"Of 78 pupils placed on trial since February," he said, "58 have made good."

Of the number that failed the second time, Marshall explained, nearly all made the grade on the third trial.

SPANISH SOCIETY HONORS PROFESSOR C. K. JONES

Cecil Knight Jones, assistant professor of Spanish in the University, has just been elected a corresponding member of the Hispanic Society of America, according to word recently received by Dean Henry Grattan Doyle, professor of romance languages here.

Professor Jones is the specialist in Spanish and Spanish-American literature at the Library of Congress, and is also a member of the editorial board of the Hispanic-American Historical Review.

Two Rival Papers on Campus as Second Makes Debut at Louisiana

Journalism Students At Louisiana State University "Put One Over" On Weekly Publication By Printing Semi-Weekly Paper—Headline Writers Learn Type Is Not Rubber

The Reveille, Louisiana State University newspaper, now has a rival. There is another newspaper on the campus which "puts one over" on the weekly by coming out twice a week, and it, too, is published by students under the supervision of the heads of the journalism department.

This newest brain child of the journalism students has been dignified with the appellation of the "Headliner" and it is just exactly what its name would imply. The students of the journalism class in copy-reading, write headlines for the Associated Press copy used by the State Times. On these days the headlines are set up in type, placed in a newspaper form, and a proof is taken.

The department of journalism has acquired recently a type-setting outfit and all the apparatus that goes with it, and the students are being taught that headlines must be a certain number of units in length and that the columns of a paper are not made out of rubber that will stretch in order to fit a headline. They know now that the headline must fit the column, and that the column will not stretch even the finest part of an inch to fit the headline.

Of course the students are far from being expert in this new art, but mistakes mean nothing in their young lives, so even if a few errors are made now and then, they are laughed at while the author of that particular head determines to do better next time.

"Headline writing," said one of the would-be printers, "has lost all terrors for me. I actually enjoy going to class now, and it's really lots of fun to set up the very headlines you write, and to see how they look in print."

February 20 Set As Date For Colonial Wig

Literary Publication Will Make Its Initial Appearance on Campus Next Month

The Editorial Board of the "Colonial Wig" has announced that the first issue will make its appearance about February 20, and that all material must be in by the first of February.

Helen Dix is chairman of the Board of Editors. Bradford Swope is Business Manager, Wanda Webb, Short-Story Editor, George Roth, Poetry Editor, and Stanley Gelston, Essay Editor.

Helen Buchalter and Elizabeth Buntan are submitting designs for the cover, which will be unique.

CUPID IS THWARTED BY AUTHORITIES AT MCGILL

MONTREAL, Que. (McGill Daily and Intercollegiate Press).—There was a fluttering of hearts and downcast looks at the United Theological College, of McGill University, recently when a notice appeared on the official bulletin board that the students in the future would not have as free a hand in their matrimonial affairs as has formerly been the case.

The authorities have passed a resolution making it necessary for Theology students who are serving pastorates to gain the consent of the authorities before taking on a wife.

One loophole appeared to the undergraduates—that no stipulations were made concerning companionate marriages.

Members of the Junior Class are requested to meet in the Gym today at 12.10 for the class picture. Arrangements have been made with the White Studio.

CORRESPONDENT WILL BE APPOINTED BY I. P.

A student representative to act as correspondent is sought by the Intercollegiate Press.

His duties would consist of furnishing the Intercollegiate Press with good pictures and news stories of college life, and he would receive compensation.

Applicants should consult a member of the Board of Editors, or write to Charles W. Lawrence, The Intercollegiate Press, Oberlin, Ohio.

ATWATER KENT GIVES ENGINEERING AWARD

Goes to Student Showing Excellence of Judgment and Grasp of Engineering Principles

A new application of the practical bent of Vermonters, whose claim to practicality and horse sense has been emphasized in late years by the acts and edicts of President Coolidge, is seen in the award provided by A. Atwater Kent, himself a Vermonters by birth and education, to the Engineering School of the University of Vermont. This award—the income from a fund of $5,000—is to be made annually, not to the boy who stands highest in his classes or who can show the best general average of academic scholarship, but to that student who best shows "excellence of judgment and general grasp of the principles of electrical engineering." A bronze tablet commemorating the award, on which the names of the first twenty students to win the prize will be inscribed, has been placed in the Engineering Hall of the college.

New Basis for Award

Heretofore, practically all scholarships and student prizes have been bestowed for general excellence in academic work. Believing that high academic scholarship, while very important, alone does not best fit an engineering student for the specialized work in which he must engage, Mr. Kent is attempting to stimulate and encourage the boy with the sound judgment and business sense so essential to making good in that particular field. Failure to achieve all-round scholarship, he feels, too often denies recognition, during school days, to natural ability and genius in a given line, and dampens enthusiasm which, if encouraged, might lead these youths to much higher accomplishments.

That, out of school, these students become leaders in their special fields, often outstripping the honor students in the practical battle of life, is all the more reason, Mr. Kent believes, that recognition should be given for their wider interest in college.

Philippinians Club Plans Benefit Dance

Proceeds Will Be Divided Between G. W. U. Building Fund and Cherry Tree

The annual benefit dance of the Philippinians Club was held in Corcoran Hall on Saturday evening, January 14. The President of the Club, Bernard B. Gapuz, stated that the proceeds would be divided between the George Washington University Building Fund and the Cherry Tree.

This dance, which continued from nine to twelve, numbered among its features an extemporaneous "Charleston" on the part of a member of the orchestra whose performance was especially adept, no doubt accountable by the fact of his ebony hue. This was followed by an equally impromptu and unsolicited but highly appreciated Charleston by two of the young women present.

The Philippinians Club is an organization constituted of the Filipino students of Washington, its purpose being fellowship and entertainment for its members. Dances are held periodically at the various hotels.

N. S. F. A. CONVENTION MEETS AT NEBRASKA U.

Officers of National Student Federation of America Elected

LINCOLN, Nebraska (IP).—The following officers of the National Student Federation of America were elected for the year 1928, at the annual convention of the N. S. F. A., held here in December:

President, Mr. Edward Miller, of Washington and Lee University. Vice-President, Miss Martha H. Biehle, of Wellesley College.

Secretary-treasurer, J. Willard Rippon, of the University of Toledo.

Mr. Miller was vice-chairman of the federation's travel committee during the convention. Miss Biehle is president of the Student Government Association of Wellesley, and directed a discussion group in women's student government problems during the convention. Mr. Rippon was a member of last year's executive committee of the federation, and had charge of the work of the speaker's bureau of the federation during the past year.

Next year's meeting will be held at the University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo.

FACTS IN ACACIA CASE PRESENTED

Correction Is Made of Inaccurate Article Which Appeared Last Week

ARTICLE IS REFUTED

Story Was Published Upon Information Furnished by Certain Unauthorized Persons

The Board of Editors of The Hatchet has ascertained that the news article relative to the Acacia fraternity which appeared in last week's issue (page 5, column 6), was substantially in error; that it was published upon unauthentic information furnished by certain persons who, The Hatchet has now learned, were permitted to resign from the Acacia fraternity to avoid disciplinary action for fraternal misconduct; that nothing has in fact occurred to affect the public standing of the local chapter as a part of the Acacia fraternity or the integrity of its relations with the Interfraternity Council; and that The Hatchet knows of no reason why the Acacia fraternity, both locally and nationally, should not continue to enjoy the same high esteem that it has enjoyed in the past.

Substantiation of the statements made above is found in a telegram from the national president of the fraternity, in the possession of the Board of Editors of The University Hatchet.

The Hatchet regrets any injustice or injury that may have resulted from the article in question, and takes this means of presenting the facts in the case.

"SEA-GOING SENIOR" TO BE PRESENTED TONIGHT

Movies of Student Tours Abroad in 1926, to be Shown in Corcoran Hall

Four reels of snappy action pictures entitled, "Sea-Going Senior," are offered at 7.10 this evening in Corcoran Hall 1, by E. C. Wine, who represents the Guard Lines and the Students' Travel Club of New York City at George Washington.

The film was taken in 1926, and shows actual scenes and experiences on an American student travel tour. Students from 216 colleges and universities throughout the United States are included as a part of the film's cast. Full information is said to be given concerning the possibilities of students traveling abroad at minimum expense.

Those who are interested in a trip abroad during the coming summer were the particular consideration which caused Mr. Wine to bring the movie to the University. Everyone is invited, however, and the admission is free.

Since the preliminary announcement of "Sea-Going Senior," great interest has been evinced by G. W. students in summer tours, and Mr. Wine will be present following the picture to give full information about the tours, sailings, and expenses of European travel.

Hour Glass Society Initiates Five Co-Eds

Maxine Alverson, Julia Denning, Louise DuRose, Mary Erwin and Alice Graham Honored

The Hour Glass Honor Society announces the initiation Friday, January 16, in the Woman's Building, of Maxine Alverson, Julia Denning, Louise DuRose, Mary Erwin, and Alice Graham. Betty Brandenburg, President of the Society, presided.

Hour Glass is a representative women's organization for the purpose of promoting high scholarship and an interest in student affairs among the women of the University. Candidates for membership must have completed seventy-five semester hours' work with an average not less than fifteen per cent above passing, with an unusual interest in college activities by participating in at least two major activities.

PI DELTA CONTEST FOR EDITORIALS GETS UNDER WAY

Both Members And Non-Members Eligible To Compete In National Contest

DEAN DOYLE TO DIRECT NATIONAL COMPETITION

Editorials Must Be Published In College Papers During Present School Year

Cash prizes will be awarded for the best editorials published in college journals during the academic year 1927-1928, according to announcement made here by Henry Grattan Doyle, Dean of Men of George Washington University.

The awards will be made by Pi Delta Epsilon, the honorary collegiate journalism fraternity, sponsor of the competition, which will be directed by Dean Doyle as grand vice-president of the society. The purpose of the contest is the stimulation of greater interest in university publications and the elevation of the quality of their editorials. If successful, it will be made an annual event, with additional prizes later for other journalistic features. College "comics" are barred from the competition.

Identical prizes will be awarded in two groups, as follows:

Group A—Open to all college journals and staffs.

Group B—Open to members of Pi Delta Epsilon on staffs of college journals in institutions where the fraternity has a chapter.

The first prize in each group is $50; second, $35; third, $25; fourth, $15; fifth, $10.

Judges to Make Awards

A board judges composed of editors and writers of national reputation will read the editorials submitted and make the awards. They are: Ira E. Bennett, editor, Washington Post; Claude G. Bowers, editor, New York Evening World; Louis Ludlow, former president, National Press Club, Washington correspondent; Oliver P. Newman, Washington journalist, and Frederic William Wille, Washington correspondent and author.

The competition closes July 1, 1928, and the editorials submitted must have been written by undergraduates and published during the academic year 1927-28. Monthly, quarterly, literary magazines, alumni publications and comics are not included in the competition.

"Pi Delta Epsilon is nearly twenty years old and has about 3,000 living members," said Dean Doyle. "It has chapters in forty-five of the leading colleges and universities and, by its initial competition for editorials, hopes to contribute something new and more later to the betterment of college journals and the encouragement of wholesome campus life."

The officers of the fraternity are: grand president, George McIntosh Sparks, Georgia School of Technology; grand vice-president, Henry Grattan Doyle, dean of men, George Washington University; grand secretary, Harold E. Lobdell, assistant dean, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; grand treasurer, Joseph C. Patty, Greenville, Ohio; grand editor, Robert Hooper McNeill, instructor in journalism, Colgate University.

Judges Nationally Known

The judges are nationally known newspaper men. Mr. Bennett was formerly Washington correspondent of the San Francisco Chronicle and has been since 1905, editorial writer and since 1908, editor of the Washington Post. Mr. Bowers was formerly editor of the Fort Worth Journal Gazette, has been since 1923, editorial writer on the New York World and is also well known as a historian. Mr. Ludlow has been Washington correspondent of the Indianapolis Star and is now Washington correspondent of the Columbus Dispatch and Ohio State Journal. He is the author of "From Cornfield to Press Gallery" and "Senator Solomon Spiffedink." Major Newman is a journalist of long and varied experience and was Commissioner of the District of Columbia under President Wilson. Mr. Wille is a famous war correspondent, author and political writer who broadcasts weekly talks over the N. B. C. Blue Network on Wednesday evenings on "The Political Situation in Washington Tonight."

The director of the contest, Dean Doyle, is a former instructor at Harvard, who has been a member of the faculty of George Washington University since 1916, and has also taught at Cornell University and Johns Hopkins University.

Complete Mid-Year Exam Schedule Is Announced By Recorder's Office

Announcement of the schedule of examinations was made Saturday afternoon by the Recorder's Office. This schedule is printed herewith for the convenience of students. The following general notice is quoted from the schedule as issued by the Recorder's Office:

Books, notebooks or scratch paper may not be taken into the examination room unless specifically authorized by the instructor in charge of the course. "Examinations will be two hours in length. All examinations will begin and end promptly at the hours scheduled. Examinations not here scheduled must be arranged for with the professor. Third group courses are in general not included. Report any conflict or omission to the Recorder's Office. All recitations will be suspended during the examination period."

Moss, Psychologist Here, Steps Into Spotlight Again As Brisbane Quotes Statement

Dr. Fred A. Moss, associate professor of Psychology at the University has been brought into the limelight again. This time by Arthur Brisbane himself, no less.

In the column headed "Today"—but to quote Mr. Brisbane: "Dr. Moss of George Washington University says there are three kinds of intelligence, 'abstract' intelligence, which creates scientists; 'social' intelligence, which makes able politicians and salesmen; and 'mechanical' intelligence, which produces such men as Henry Ford."

The columnist goes on to say that "there are several other kinds of intelligence wrapped up in Henry Ford, but that is another story."

LAFAYETTE RECEIVES GIFT

EASTON, Pa. (IP).—Five hundred thousand dollars has been given to Lafayette College by John Markle, '80, for the erection of a mining and engineering building on the campus. It was announced at the inauguration ceremonies for President William Mather Lewis, held here last week. It is the largest personal gift ever given the college.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES DROPPED

CLEVELAND, Ohio (IP).—Foreign languages have been dropped from the curriculum of the Case School of Applied Science here, and in their places have been instituted courses in economics, history and related subjects. The action was taken, according to President C. S. Howe, after several years of consideration as to the value of language courses in a scientific institution.

QUEEN'S U. LEADS IN RUGBY

MONTREAL, Canada (IP).—Queen's University is leading the eastern Canadian Rugby football race this year, having won two out of three games already played. McGill is a close second in the race with two out of three won, but with fewer points than Queen's. The Toronto Varsity eleven is at the bottom with one out of four games won, that one being a surprise victory over McGill recently.
